Story

About the Show

I'm Rick Miller, and I'd like to talk about MONEY.

It's an epic new play I'm writing in 3 Acts, spanning 3 generations of stories, with a cast of 8 of Canada's top theatre stars. MONEY explores how currency - and the value it represents - fuels our relationships, and flows as the lifeblood of human civilization.

What I Need & What You Get

The "MONEY for MONEY" campaign aims to raise $100,000, including $5000 with Kickstarter. The funding is to pay for 2 development workshops in 2024 and 2025, and will go directly to theatre artists. (FYI, the other $90,000 is being raised through a combination of government grants and larger sponsorships).

If you GIVE, you can GET exclusive perks, like:

- a pdf of my MONEY script
- a link to my MONEY playlist
- a social media shoutout
- a personalized video message
- a signed CD and other merch
- special livestream tickets
- a credit in the playbill
- a cameo in the show

Impact

MONEY is the most ambitious project I've ever undertaken, and I need your help! Support my campaign, and you'll become part of an important conversation around money, value(s), and the future of humanity. Yes... the future of humanity! With AI now replacing human labour, MONEY is digging into the big questions, like "what value does humanity have?"

- STAGING: Chess, gaming/gambling, and financial transactions are all part of MONEY's design. This is going to be the coolest play you've ever seen!

Why MONEY, why now? Everyone needs money, but few of us know what it means. Our vision is to create an ENTERTAINING, IMPORTANT and INTERACTIVE show that tells the story of money: what it is, what it does to us, and what we do for it.

Your money will not go to waste - in my 25-year career, I've created shows that have toured across Canada, the US, France, and Taiwan. Help me make the next big international Canadian hit!

About Me

I'm a Toronto-based writer/director/performer/musician/educator and podcast host. In my 25-year career, I've worked in six languages on five continents, including a decade touring with Robert Lepage & Ex Machina. With WYRD Productions & Kidoons, I've created solo shows (the BOOM Trilogy, MacHomer, Bigger Than Jesus and HARDSELL), family shows (Twenty Thousand Leagues Under The Sea, Jungle Book, FRANKENSTEIN: A Living Comic Book, and HANS: My Life in Fairy Tales), and I'm throwing everything I've got at this new project, MONEY.

Risks and challenges

The funding landscape for theatre has changed dramatically, and theatre creators like me are having to hustle like never before to create innovative new work. But... audiences are still craving live performance, and shows that take big swings. This is one of them.

Our producing partners will back us, but only after we raise this MONEY for MONEY. The funds go directly towards our next two development workshops, and after that, I'm confident this show will have a long touring life in Canada and beyond.

Use of AI

The development of AI (and AGI) is one of the key themes in the play, as we speculate on the future of money and technology. The final Act of MONEY features a fictional AI character who not only disrupts everyone's lives, but runs for Prime Minister of Canada, in an election voted on by the audience (and their phones). We may also use AI-generated content in the show.
