Story

Storyay: Stories just for YOUR Child, Delivered by Mail

Imagine your child's excitement discovering adventures where the hero talks directly to them! Storyay creates personalized, serialized stories featuring your child's name, interests, and details—delivered as physical letters to your mailbox.

How It Works

- We craft stories that are designed around YOUR child (not generic templates)
- Letters arrive every few weeks, continuing the personalized adventure
- Each package includes interactive puzzles connected to their storyline

Why Parents & Kids Love It

- Screen-free entertainment that children actually want to read
- Created by real writers & illustrators (never AI-generated)
- Builds reading confidence when kids see themselves in stories

Choose Your Adventure: Gift a personalized story, try a single adventure, or subscribe for ongoing magic in the mailbox.

Let's Inspire the Next Generation of Readers!

Imagine the joy on a child's face when they open their own personalized letter, addressed just to them, with a story that seems to have been made for their imagination.

Storyay is dedicated to nurturing children's creativity and love for literature through personalized, mail-based letters. At a time when children's enjoyment of reading is at an all-time low, we're on a mission to make reading exciting, immersive, and accessible for kids aged 7-12. Our personalized letters, created by local writers and illustrators—not AI—connect with children in a meaningful, screen-free way.

Join us to give a child the gift of reading, whether they're in your family, a friend or a child in need. Be the hero who sparks a lifelong love of stories!

Why Storyay Matters

Reading for pleasure in childhood is more than just a pastime—it has been shown to improve cognitive performance, mental well-being, and school success. But here's the reality: fewer children than ever enjoy reading today, especially boys and older kids. Research has shown that children need shorter-form stories with stories and characters to which they can relate and develop a love of reading. Storyay makes reading something to look forward to, a unique adventure that arrives just for them in the mail.

As CEO of Schoolio and a parent myself, I know how important it is to develop a love of literacy for our kids. Kids love getting mail, especially when it's a personalized message just for them, complete with illustrations and activities. Storyay makes reading an adventure with the child in the center.

Sathish Bala, CEO

Schoolio

With each letter, children will see themselves in the stories, with characters, themes, and artwork that connect to their unique interests. Plus, our stories are crafted by real people - our local team of writers and illustrators who pour passion into every word and illustration.

What Backers Receive: A Magical, Ongoing Story Experience

As a Storyay backer, you'll receive a beautifully illustrated invitation to gift. Here's how the Storyay experience unfolds:

Receive the Storyay Box

For select perks that include the full Storyay, the child will receive an illustrated Storyay box in the mail containing an introduction to each story. The child will use these introduction letters to choose which story to receive for their subscription. The box is designed with fun activities and branded items to enjoy. This is where the excitement truly begins.

Choose the Story

The child you've chosen will explore Storyay's three fully written and illustrated launch stories and receive a gift invitation to go online (with adult supervision). They'll pick the story they connect with the most, choose a boy or a girl protagonist, and provide personal details to make the Storyay uniquely theirs.

The Ongoing Story Journey

Every few weeks, the child will receive the next instalment of their personalized story, creating a delightful anticipation for each letter. Over eight letters, they'll enjoy a full story that builds their curiosity, keeps them engaged, and helps them discover the joy of reading.

The frequency of these letters has been thoughtfully designed to balance anticipation with regular engagement, making each delivery a special event. With Storyay, reading becomes a captivating journey that a child will remember for years to come.

I just finished my first adventure from Storyay, and it was so exciting! There was so much to do in the box—I loved the story, the colouring sheets, and all the fun activities. It made reading even more special, and I can't wait to get my next letters in the mail. Storyay makes reading an adventure, and I highly recommend it to anyone who loves stories and creativity!

Risks and challenges

At Storyay, our mission is to deliver a magical reading experience for kids while promoting literacy. As with any project, there are risks and challenges, but our team is dedicated to overcoming them to ensure a smooth and timely delivery for all backers.

1. Production and Fulfillment Delays

Creating personalized, interactive letters involves high-quality design, printing, and logistics. Delays in production or shipping could impact timelines, but we've partnered with trusted suppliers and fulfillment partners to minimize disruptions.

2. Maintaining Personalization Accuracy

Each Storyay letter is customized to reflect the child's name, preferences, and chosen story. While we've developed systems to handle personalization efficiently, there's a risk of errors during this process. Our team has established rigorous quality control checks to ensure accuracy for every child's unique experience.

3. Scaling Demand

If the campaign exceeds our expectations, fulfilling a high volume of orders may pose a challenge. We have contingency plans in place to scale production and fulfillment to meet demand without compromising quality.

4. External Factors

Unforeseen issues like supply chain disruptions or shipping delays could arise. We're prepared to communicate transparently with backers and keep you updated on progress, ensuring you're informed every step of the way.

We're confident in our ability to deliver Storyay to your mailbox as planned and will work tirelessly to provide a magical reading experience for kids everywhere. Your support means everything to us, and we're excited to bring this vision to life together!
