Story

Our social network is an online community offering resources, support, and social tools to people living with disabilities. A true 'social' network, our primary goal is to enable individuals with special needs, allowing them to meet peers, make connections, and grow friendships. The focus is less content driven than other social sites, instead, targeting real interactions between real people who might not otherwise have a way of meeting one another.

Risks and challenges

This is an advanced technology, and we must ensure that our partners are capable of building a platform with eventual international reach. This social network is intended to develop a worldwide following, but this will not be accomplished overnight. We anticipate having a beta site ready for launch in one year's time.
