Story

Hello all and thank you for taking a moment to check out my project. My name is Jonathan Stevanka, I am 24 years old from Ontario,Canada with a passion for taking risks and doing things no one else really tries to do.

This lead me to the development of Rewind, what started off as a pet project making a instagram clone to "replace" the social media giant quickly turned into much more. I quickly thought why not take everyones favourite features from every social media app and plug them all in one. This paired with the distrust everybody has today with big tech owned platforms it seemed like a great time to start building my own.

Rewind early wireframe, V1.0 design 2020

When I started building this app it was while I was still going to school for "Mobile Applications development" so I grew up very much on social media and because I have a tech background I paid close attention to what the big dogs are doing.

I quickly realized there is a large percentage of users who are unhappy with instagram but wont leave because there is no competitor that is quite like it. This lead me to start an instagram(ironic) account rewind.app to see how many other users would be interested in this.

Fast forward 10months later with over 3,400 followers and a handful of accounts with over 300k followers I quickly knew that if done correctly this app could potentially skyrocket.

From all of the user responses I gathered from people who sit on both sides of the political isle it seems most people want an app where they can post stuff without getting instant strikes, shadow-bans or even outright perm bans. This also includes allowing users to have conversations about hard topics in real time, a big win for a startup of this size.

Now with an app of this nature your immediate thought was probably, how in the world is this guy going to fund this? So far the app is free to use for everyone, however in order to reduce the upkeep we will be putting out donator Tier levels from 1-3 each having similar but different perks. This will allow users who want to help out and support the chance but also giving them something back, I had to get very creative compared to modern social media tactics but I think mine in the end will prevail if given time.

Another plan is also business submitted advertisement applications, IE paying to have a video of your business promoted on the app in a certain area or for a certain demographic.

The final and last option is investors, with an app of this scale it is inevitable. I am open and looking please contact me and we can speak.

So with all that in mind I set out over the course of 3 and something years and built Rewind from a "pet project" into the start of a social media app. There has been a lot done inside the app up until this point, but in the next two-three months its going to feel like I am going to have to run around the world. I am under quite the time crunch to get it released but I love a challenge!

Thanks for reading!

Risks and challenges

- Growing user base too fast could lead to unexpected issues
- Scale could be an issue due to cost

- Need to convert videos to HLS on the fly after being uploaded(faster video load times)
- Could face a lack of donators which would force me to look else where to reduce cost
- Need to finalize legal standings
