Story

After our 1986 project, I am back online. I was advised after being on a show in USA, I need twitter to interact with fans/media and beyond. Especially to brand the mullets, over the past month I have used it for just that. I have messaged with fans and had them and media follow. The only problem today, without warning I lost all my followers and people I followed. After seeing this happens lots without any warning I called twitter to no avail. This is where I need your help! With your support I can sit on the phone with twitter for hours and not stress about long distance fees. With enough backing I can fly there and and see if I can get the answer to reinstate my account.

Risks and challenges

I will climb the highest mountain and paddle boat the deepest seas for this. I just won't tweet about my journey until it is fixed. #Notwitteraccount I will document my travels and save my selfies and mullet pictures.
